Native Infant Program (Arizona Families)

The Native Infant Program is one of MyDream Adoption's Domestic Infant Adoption Programs. MyDream partners with adoption agencies located in several states across the nation to place newborn infants in the homes of MyDream Adoptive families. The waiting time for placement through the Native Infant Program is estimated at 40 - 60 weeks after approval of an adoption home study. MyDream coordinates with more than a dozen agencies across the country that are working with birth mothers who are making an adoption plan and looking for the right family.

These partner agencies share family profile books with birth mothers, giving them the opportunity to select the adoptive family. Occasionally, circumstances dictate that MyDream Adoptions and the placing agency select a family. When this happens, the agencies work to create a match that will best meet the needs of both the adoptive family and the infant. Agencies do their best to assure healthy pregnancies by offering prenatal care resources and counseling to birthmothers. However, it cannot be guaranteed that birth mothers will follow the suggestions of their counselors, and often a birth mother is referred late in her pregnancy resulting in little or no prenatal care. When an agency begins working with a birth mother, a medical history is obtained and, if possible, one from the birth father as well. Adoptive families have the opportunity to provide which health risks or conditions in an infant's background they will knowingly accept. It is important to understand that MyDream Adoptions cannot guarantee the health of any child.

Steps to Adopting through the Native infant Program

APPLICATION: The application is the first step in the adoption process. The application can be found at <https://mydreamadoption.com> or by contacting our office at (480)-761-3532. Mail in a completed application along with the following documents: the fee listed on the application, two family photos, and copies of government issued ID(s) or passport(s). Please check with MyDream prior to application, as there may be a hold or waitlist.

CONTRACT: Upon approval of the application, and possible waitlist time, MyDream will send contracts for services, process background clearances, provide the home study packet and the Domestic Infant Training Course. This information is needed by the social worker conducting the home study. Once the contracts, MyDream Adoptions fees and all other required documents and training have been completed and received, a social worker will be assigned to conduct a home safety inspection and interviews to complete the state adoption home study.

EDUCATION: 10 hours of pre-adoption education is required for all adopting families and provides important basic information about adoption-related issues such as prenatal and medical risks, understanding of transracial parenting issues, open adoption and importance of birthparents, and understanding grief and loss in the adoption triad. The MyDream Adoptions Domestic Infant Program will provide the necessary training for families to complete. The MyDream Adoptions training also includes ongoing Waiting Families Webinars.

HOME STUDY: The social worker will conduct the adoption home study, which, in addition to education, includes:

- medical forms
- financial forms and tax returns
- employment letters

- criminal and child abuse checks
- personal references
- releases of information
- general information and present life autobiographies

PROFILE BOOK: After the completion of the home study packet and Domestic Infant Training Course, instruction will be sent for how to create a profile book that will be presented to birth parents once the adoption home study is approved. Instructions for designing the book and a sample are included in the Domestic Infant Training Course. Once the study has been approved and the profile book has been completed, the profile will be added to the MyDream Adoptions Waiting Family page and the matching process will begin. Profile books are sent to partner agencies according to the budget and preferences set by the pre-adoptive parent(s).

FAMILY SELECTION: When MyDream Adoptions is notified about a potential match, contact with the pre-adoptive family will be made to discuss details such as medical and social history, legal risks, placement, travel plans, and fees. MyDream will send as much information about the birth parents' background and current circumstances as is available to help in the decision making. If the pre-adoptive parents choose to be considered by the birth parents, MyDream will notify the coordinating agency. If pre-adoptive families don't feel the situation is an appropriate match, it is okay to say no and wait for the next opportunity.

CHILD ARRIVAL: Pre-adoptive parents must travel to the state where the baby is born. Most adoptive placements are made 2 to 10 days after the birth of the child. There may be an opportunity to meet the birth parents at this time. Once the placement has been made and the documents with the placing agency have been completed, the adoptive family will need to remain in the state for interstate approval before returning home. Interstate approval (ICPC) generally takes 2 to 10 days.

The Local Infant Program is also one of MyDream 's Domestic Infant Adoption Programs. Through a careful home study process, MyDream matches families who long to parent with birth parents who are facing an unexpected pregnancy and are not able to parent.

The birth mother selects a MyDream Adoptions waiting family for her baby. Both families decide on the level of openness they want in the placement. Waiting time can depend on many factors, but can generally be 25 to 60 weeks, or longer, after the approval of a home study. The Local Program primarily works with birth parents and adoptive families in the states of Arizona.

However, we sometimes have a birth mother outside Arizona who want to place with one of MyDream 's waiting families.

MyDream Adoptions encourages an open adoption. The basis of an open adoption is developing a relationship with the birth parents for the well-being of the child. Adoptive parents should anticipate ongoing communication with their baby's birth parents including pictures, letters, and visits.

and the matching process will begin. Profile books are sent to partner agencies according to the budget and preferences set by the pre-adoptive parent(s).

THE MATCHING PROCESS: Birth parents select families based on criteria they consider important for their expected baby. After being selected, adoptive families will receive as much background and current medical, genetic, and social information regarding the birth parents as is available. After reviewing the information and consulting with the program director and other trusted advisors, the choice to accept or decline the opportunity to match is made. In most cases, a match meeting with the birth parent(s) and adoptive parents will be scheduled and facilitated by a MyDream advocate. Following the match meeting, all parties are asked to decide if they would like to commit to the match.

CHILD ARRIVAL: The birth plan and particular placement arrangements will be discussed between the adoptive parent advocate and the birthparent's advocate. In most cases, the adoptive family is invited by the birth mother to be a part of the hospital experience. Usually, 1 to 2 days after the birth of the child, he or she can be placed directly from the hospital into the adoptive parents' home.

POST PLACEMENT: The social worker will make two in-home post placement visits and, in most cases, will then recommend finalization proceedings. Once all post placement and contractual obligations have been met, Choice Adoptions can consent to the adoption. The necessary legal documents will be sent to the adoptive parents' adoption attorney who will complete the finalization. Adoptive families are responsible to retain an adoption attorney to initiate proceedings for legal finalization as soon as possible at or before placement of the baby.

AGENCY FEES: My Adoptions' heart for finding adoptive families for children is reflected in the efforts to keep fees as low as possible. Fees herein are subject to change without notice; please contact the office for current fees.

Home Study Facts

A home study is a report required by the state for every domestic adoption to determine the eligibility of adoptive parents. Home studies are valid for 2 years in Arizona and some states. Home studies need to be updated after 1 year to update medicals, background checks, and financials. A home study can only be used for one adoption (sibling groups are considered one adoption if the children are placed at the same time). Home studies are confidential and shared only with the family and professionals involved with the adoption. Each type of adoption has a slightly different home study process and requirements. To save time and money, it is important to choose the type of adoption you want to pursue before obtaining a home study.

- During the home study process, a minimum of 10 adoption training hours are required depending on the type of adoption.
- MyDream Adoptions is not an international child placing agency.

Post Placement Services

After placement, one or more additional social worker visits with the family and reports are required to ensure that the child and family are adjusting well and are equipped with all necessary resources. The social worker summarizes the visit in a written post placement report. Reports are filed with the court. Post placement requirements vary depending on the state, but generally involve 1 to 6 reports. MyDream Adoptions has extensive experience in providing post placement supervision and domestic adoptions.

Home Study Updates/Addendums

Adoption Attorney estimated fees can be between $2,500 and $4,000

Travel Expenses

Caseworker's mileage is billed to the family at the current IRS standard rate per mile. Trips over 150 miles round trip require car rental. Actual expenses are billed to the family in lieu of the IRS standard rate per mile. Should an overnight stay or alternate travel arrangements (such as a flight) be needed, the adopting family is responsible for paying the expenses including but not limited to travel time, food, and lodging.

This list does not cover all the possibilities. Call us at 480-761-3532 for more information and to discuss unique circumstances.

The prospect of paying for adoption can be intimidating. Never fear! There are plenty of resources to help make your adoption affordable.

Adoption Tax Credit

This provides a tax credit (an amount that can be deducted directly from the taxes you owe) for expenses incurred in the adoption of a child who is not the child of the taxpayer's spouse. The adoption tax credit is adjusted each year based upon the cost of living allowance. For 2024, this non-refundable credit is $16,810. The full credit will be available to taxpayers with modified adjusted gross incomes. For more information regarding the adoption tax credit please contact a tax professional or visit

<http://www.irs.gov/taxtopics/tc607.html>
